Endeavor Conference Starting Monday Brings Many Here

Although this is the first summer that the annual summer conference of the Massachusetts Christian Endeavor Union has been held so early, 600 advance registrations indicate that the party to be held on the campus of the Northfield Seminary, July 4 to 11 inclusive, will be an outstanding spot in the 1938 program of Christian Endeavor in this state.

For many years now, this summer gathering has been one of the largest in the country and it attracts hundreds annually from Christian Endeavor societies throughout the state for a week of study, rest and fellowship. The week is given over to a variety of classes, studying the Bible, Christian Endeavor methods and general subjects being awarded for successful completion of the courses. Morning chapel service, recreational afternoons, vespers services and evening chapel services in the evening compose the activities of the week.

A competent faculty of school, college and religious leaders have charge of the week's program and will be headed this year by Rev. Edwin H. Gibson of the First Parish Congregational church of Brockton, as dean. Other well known faculty members include: Leslie Deinstadt, field secretary of the Mass. Christian Endeavor Union; Dr. Andrew Richards, of the Second Congregational church of Dorchester; Rev. Chester Wood, of the American Mission Board from Suisu, West China; Russell J. Blair, director of young people's work, Tremont Temple; Miss Ruth Worthington of Gordon college; Dr. Wesley Huber, executive secretary of the New England Evangelistic association; Dr. Elmer Leslie of Boston university; Mrs. Ralph Palmer, Bible teacher at Tremont Temple; and Prof. Ralph Palmer of Gordon college.

Evening chapel speakers include: Glen Massman, executive secretary of the Ohio Christian Endeavor Union; Rev. William T. Murphy, Jr., president of the Mass. Christian Endeavor Union; Rev. Edgar Chandler, pastor of the Central Congregational church, Jamaica Plain, who will also be the morning chapel speaker.

A special two-day leaders' conference will be held on Saturday and Sunday prior to the opening of the conference at which time plans for the year's work in the state will be made. On July 4th a celebration will be in order, including a bon-fire and fireworks. The closing day, Sunday, July 10, will feature as speaker, Dr. William S. Abernethy, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, at Washington, D. C. and former president of the Northern Baptist convention.

About Our Bridges

Phel Langdon Drake of London who is visiting friends in Erving was taken to view the French King bridge. She was amazed and said it was beautiful especially surrounded with magnificent scenery. "Why," said she, "there is nothing finer in all of Europe."

The new Chesterfield-Battleboro bridge has been designated as one of the most beautiful bridges built of steel during the past year, by the American Steel Institute. The bridge has received a plaque as an award to be attached to the structure. Awards are made annually by the Institute and this is the tenth year in which awards have been made. French King bridge received a plaque two years ago.

18 Church Choirs To Hold Festival At State College

Choirs from eighteen western Massachusetts churches will take part in a vesper choir festival on July 28 at Massachusetts State college farm and home week. More than 150 voices will be joined in a program of religious music that includes those anthems that have proved most popular with church congregations in this section: "To God on High Be Praise and Thanks," "Souls of the Righteous," "Lead Me Lord," "Lo a Voice to Heaven is Singing," "Psalm 160," and "Bless the Lord O My Soul."

The site for the festival is a pine-bordered knoll overlooking the college campus. Here the farm and home week audience will gather to hear the massed choirs and to join in the singing of additional hymns. The choristers will wear the vestments of their churches and will be accompanied by an electric organ.

Lyle R. Ring of Medford will be in charge of the program. Co-operating with him are the directors of the Northfield Festival of Sacred Music and the Rev. W. E. Soule of Springfield. Choirs from the following churches will be represented in the festival: Congregational church of Granby; Second Congregational church of Amherst; First Baptist church of Amherst; St. John's Episcopal church of Northampton; Congregational church of South Amherst; First Congregational church of Hadley; Congregational church of North Amherst; Baptist church of Rowe; Wesley Methodist Episcopal church of Amherst; Congregational church of Ashfield; Grace church of Chicopee; Methodist church of Westfield; Federated church of Warren; First Congregational church of Worthington; United church of Conway; Community church of Russell; Federated church of Granville; and Union church of Worono.

The program is open to all church choirs and additional groups are expected to be represented by the time of the first rehearsal of directors on June 28. One Grange choir, the Hampshire-Pomona chorus, will also take part in the festival.

Guests Of King At His Birthday Party

The King of Sweden, Gustaf the Fifth, recently observed his 80th birthday by giving a large party at his palace in Stockholm and among the guests were the leading members of the government, representatives of foreign powers and the members of the Royal family. Word has been received in Northfield that among those who were invited and attended were Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Dickerson. Mrs. Dickerson is the former Connie Moody, daughter of Mrs. William R. Moody and Mr. Dickerson is the son of Prof. and Mrs. Dickerson now of Oldwick, N. J., but formerly of East Northfield. Mr. Dickerson is connected with the U. S. Government in the foreign service.

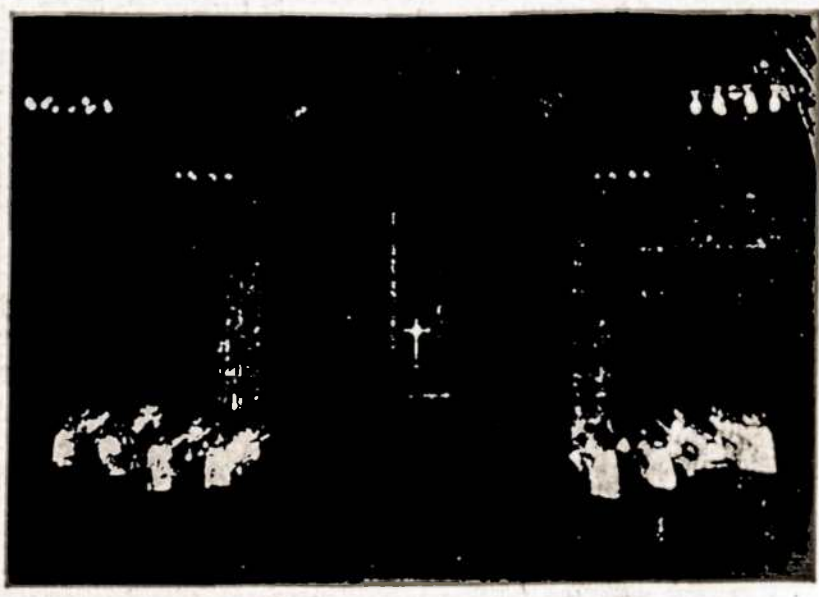

Gave Reception

Rev. and Mrs. W. Stanley Carne entertained at their home last Monday from 4 to 6 o'clock in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Carne who were recently married in Wheaton, Ill. In the receiving line were Mrs. W. S. Carne, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Carne and Miss Harlene Carne, a bridesmaid at the wedding.

In the dining room Mrs. F. T. Pallam poured tea and Mrs. Charles Mayberry dipped punch, others assisting were Miss Virginia Powell, Miss Elizabeth Pallam, Miss Verna Mayberry and Miss Margaret Carne. Many called to greet and extend hearty wishes to the young people.

Mrs. Carne who was Gertrude Engelsman graduated from Wheaton college the day before her marriage receiving the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy. Mr. Carne attended Wheaton college and has been in business in Norway, Me., since last fall. They will be at home to their friends after July 1 in that Maine town.

Farm and Home Week will be held at Massachusetts State college July 26-29, according to announcement by Earle S. Carpenter, secretary of the state extension service. Eighteen subject-matter programs have been arranged in preparation for an expected attendance of 5000 farmers and homemakers from all counties of the state.

WILFRED W. FRY MEMORIAL CHANCEL IN SAGE CHAPEL

The many visitors and conference guests in Northfield who have entered Sage chapel on the Seminary campus, are much pleased with the new arrangement and appearance of the interior which is produced by the addition of the new memorial chancel, given in memory of the late Wilfred W. Fry, President of the Northfield Schools by his wife, Mrs. Fry. The new organ also is much appreciated.

The Sacred Concert Sunday, August 14 Preparations Begin

Vocalists are tuning up in this section, and the natives who do not sing are eagerly awaiting the arrival of Maxine Beecher of the Westminster Choir school. This is not to indicate that the vocalists are of an inferior quality—far from it—but simply that they are practicing on ten different numbers and those who boast hearty voices cause some commotion in the peaceful community when a bass, soprano and tenor living in the same block work on three separate arias at the same hour.

Mr. Beecher is looked upon as the savior in the situation because it is he who will bring these now discordant elements together and harmonize them. He comes from the Westminster Choir School, Princeton, N. J., to conduct rehearsals for the fourth annual Festival of Sacred Music which will be held here on Sunday, Aug. 14. Dr. John Finley Williamson, president of Westminster, will come late in July with nearly 100 professional singers. In the meantime, Mr. Beecher will be working with sections of the chorus in Springfield, Northampton, Greenfield, Athol and Northfield. He plans to hold one rehearsal a week in each place, having under the control of his baton nearly 400 singers.

The Music Festival committee of the Northfield schools announces that it has purchased 500 sets of the 10 numbers to be sung by the Festival chorus and is distributing these without cost to all who wish to sing.

Church choirs in Amherst, Deerfield, Greenfield, Northampton, Springfield, Westfield and other cities are gaining experience in singing great church music through these festivals. Last year more than 400 singers took part and broadcast over a nation-wide radio hook-up. Dr. Williamson will conduct the final rehearsals in preparation for a similar broadcast this year. Rehearsals for singers from Northfield, Bernardston, Winchester and surrounding territory will be held in Music hall, Seminary campus, each Wednesday at 8:00 starting July 6. Singers who wish to join the Festival chorus may obtain the music by writing to the Music Festival Committee, Kenarden hall, East Northfield.

HAIGIS WILL NOT ENTER CAMPAIGN

With the statement that John W. Haigis will not enter the campaign for Governorship this fall in the state election, the way is open and clear for those who have been waiting the announcement to cast their choice for other candidates. Saltonstall seems now the likely choice of many in Northfield and his nomination papers have been released for signers here. It is to be regretted that Mr. Haigis could not see his way to make the contest for he would have been given splendid support locally.

The Northampton Y. M. C. A. will again open soon, Camp Nonotuck on Forest Lake, Winchester, for this season and John Montgomery of Springfield college will be in charge. The first group of boys will arrive at the camp Saturday.

A Baseball Game On The Playground Monday, The Fourth

The town is not to be without some public function on Monday, the Fourth of July, for at 2:30 on that afternoon the local athletic association has arranged for a ball game between the town team and one representing the Abercrombie A. A. of Greenfield. Both teams are quite evenly matched and the game promises to be full of interest for all who attend.

To make the game even more interesting it is proposed to award members of the local team for work accomplished. Through the generosity of Harry Gings of the Northfield Pharmacy, Miles Morgan of the Morgan Garage and L. A. Barber of the IGA store, it is proposed to award the sum of one dollar to the player making the first home run; seventy cents for the first three-base hit; fifty cents for the first two-base hit; and twenty-five cents for the first single. Fifty cents goes to the player batting in the most runs. Should the above not be accomplished the money goes to the players with outstanding performance.

Plan now to attend this game if you are interested in the sport and you will find that you have well spent the afternoon. Bring along your noise-makers. This Friday evening the local team will play the Orange Peel team at 6:15 o'clock on the local playground.

The death occurred of Miss Hattie M. Hillard, age 86 years, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Clark on the Warwick road last Saturday evening, where she has been living for the past ten years.

She was born in January, 1852, the daughter of James Hillard and his wife Nancy (Burns) Hillard of Northfield Farms, where Mr. Hillard had conducted the business of farming. Miss Hillard had lived in Northfield all her life and was well known to many here as a true friend, noble in character and modest in her activities.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon from Kidders funeral parlors with Rev. W. Stanley Carne officiating and burial was in the Northfield Farms cemetery in the family plot. The only surviving relative is a grand nephew, Harold N. Wright of Attleboro.

Atty. Guy M. Gray of Greenfield announces that he will enter the campaign for District Attorney of Franklin county. This makes three in the field, with John W. Heselson of Greenfield and Merrill B. Torrey of Northampton. Mr. Gray was for a time a resident of Northfield.

Girls' Conference Successful Gathering Despite Bad Weather

Brought together in sweltering heat, baptized with plenty of wet weather, the Girls' conference with nearly 600 in attendance are bringing to a conclusion a series of sessions in which optimism and pleasure has crowned the days.

Delegates came from eighteen boarding schools and from many churches throughout the east to the 38th session of the Northfield Girls' conference.

Mrs. Harper Sibley of Rochester, N. Y., who is president of the Northfield League, calling the conference, welcomed all last Friday at Sage chapel in the first meeting. More than 120 meetings were scheduled and some twenty-two classes were held daily. Prominent guest speakers were Dr. Hornell Hart of Hartford Theological seminary; Rev. James T. Cleland, Amherst college; Dr. D. Brewer Eddy, of the Board of American Missions; Dr. Arthur Lee Kinsolving, Trinity church, Boston; Rev. Eugene Blake, First Presbyterian church, Albany, N. Y.; Dr. Morgan Noyes of Central church, Montclair, N. J.; Rev. F. B. Kellogg, Christ church, Cambridge; Dr. C. Leslie Glenn also of Christ church; Rev. Donald J. Campbell, The Church of the Redeemer, Providence, R. I.; Rev. Grant Noble, St. John's church, Williamstown; and Dr. Howard Thurman, dean of Howard university.

Dr. Thurman was the preacher at the Sunday morning service in Sage chapel.

Tuesday evening was devoted to "stunts" for entertainment in the auditorium and Wednesday afternoon was devoted to field sports on the campus.

Between the various sessions, much time was afforded the young ladies for personal inclinations but the business of the conference was serious and soul lifting. The unselfish service of life was commended by all the speakers and a new consecration to christian principles urged.

The 1938 conference was a success and worthwhile and as the delegates leave Northfield this Friday, they will carry with them the memory and experience of a summer week in a pleasant place and of a wonderful convocation.

Local Women Named For Alexander Hall

A short notice call for a meeting of women of the town last Saturday afternoon in the Alexander hall to select members of a committee to have charge of the hall for the ensuing year as provided in the will of the donor, resulted in the naming of Mrs. William D. Miller, Mrs. Joseph Field and Mrs. Fred H. Doolittle to succeed Mrs. C. H. Webster, Mrs. Charles Gilbert, and Mrs. Charles Kehl, whose terms expired.

The committee now consists of Mrs. L. H. Lazelle, Mrs. C. A. Hodgden, Miss Canfield, Mrs. Donald Williams, Mrs. Murray Hammond, Mrs. L. J. Lawrence and the above.

At a meeting of the committee at the home of Mrs. Lazelle on Wednesday the following were chosen officers: Chairman, Mrs. Fred Doolittle; secretary, Mrs. L. H. Lazelle; treasurer, Mrs. William D. Miller.

This committee acts under the terms of the will of Adaline M. D. Alexander, whose funds provided for the memorial as follows: "There shall be constructed in the remaining part of the building (after providing for the soldiers' memorial) a hall to be called 'ladies' hall' to be used for social purposes, business meetings, lectures, or any like or similar purposes that may be desired, for the use of all the people of the town, but to be used under the direction of a committee of seven or more ladies to be chosen annually by themselves at a meeting duly called for the purpose and held at the hall."

Seeks Sheriff Post James L. Bagley Of Greenfield Candidate

Treadway Announces Re-election Drive

Congressman Allen T. Treadway, our representative from this district, has announced that he will be a candidate for re-election this fall. At a dinner in Pittsfield this week, given in honor of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., he is quoted as saying, in touching upon his own candidacy:

"I expect to carry on my campaign in a dignified manner, refraining from personalities, ignoring personal references to myself, and confining myself to principles and policies, so that at the close of the campaign I may know that I have retained the respect of my friends and foes alike."

"I take this position because I have been before the voters of this district long enough for them to be thoroughly familiar with my record and my ability to serve the district, the state and the nation."

"Under these conditions I am again offering myself as a candidate for re-election to Congress and ask for the support not only of my party associates but of all who believe in clean government, economy in public expenditures, reduction of taxes, and suitable aid to industry and labor."

Local Folks Leaders Rolling Youth Hostel Which Left Wednesday

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kauffhold as leaders and William Nelson as associate leader, headed a group of youth hostellers which left Northfield Wednesday for a journey across the continent in a rolling youth hostel, a tourist car provided by the Canadian National railway. The hostellers dressed in simple sport clothes and carrying their knapsack as luggage, each with a bicycle boarded the train at East Northfield for Montreal, Canada where the railroad coach will be awaiting them. They will travel 9000 miles by rail and 1000 miles by bike during the ten weeks vacation of outdoor adventure.

The rolling youth hostel tourist car accommodates 35 as a capacity load, and can be used as living and sleeping quarters. The hostellers make up their own bunks and cook their own meals in the car while traveling. Side-tracked at points of great scenic or historic interest, the hostellers then take to their bicycles to make side trips. In Calgary, Alberta, they will set out on foot and horseback for a week's trip around a Canadian hotel loop which penetrates into the foothills of the Canadian Rockies.

When they reach the West coast, the hostellers will re-enter the United States, visiting all the youth hostel loops now in operation. The hostel trail will take them through the Anacortes Islands of Washington, through the Redwoods of California, into the mountains near Denver, Colo., and along lake Michigan in Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan.

For the in-between places where there are as yet no hostels, these young people will carry sleeping bags and camp out.

High-lights In Diamond History

By Joseph Simmons
Simmons Jewelers
Greenfield

Once Kings alone wore diamonds in their gorgeous regal trappings. It took Agnes Sorel, a lady of the French court, to originate the idea of a woman using the blazing gems for personal adornment.

Women may be slow to set a style but they are never slow to adopt one when some more courageous soul has blazed the way.

Now, the most priceless of all gems glitters on the hand of every girl or woman who can afford the price. And the price has been put in reach of the majority.

Buying a diamond is a matter of moment, calling for the nicest judgment. Only a jeweler of acknowledged integrity should be consulted in the purchase.

June, the month of warmth, fair weather and sunshine has already produced a record for rainfall. Over four and half inches of rain fell with 40 hours the beginning of the week. After a record heat wave of five days the thermometer dropped and for three days the atmosphere was quite cool. Fires indoors were a comfortable and enjoyable necessity.

The Connecticut river is unusually high for this time of year although there is no indication of a swift current on the surface. The recent rains have sent a large volume of water into the stream.

Philip Paul Bliss Centenary Observed

Many churches will celebrate the centennial of the birth of P. P. Bliss, the singer and songwriter who was associated with D. L. Moody in evangelistic work for many years. He was born on July 9, 1838, in Clearfield county, Pennsylvania, of pioneer parents in a sparsely settled section. His early years were spent in farm work. His father and mother were godly people and at the age of 12 he made his first public confession of Christ in revival meetings. He loved music as a boy, but had little chance to gratify it until he attended an institute in Towanda, Pa., in 1857, where he was taught vocal music. His great natural gifts were speedily developed and he soon became known as a singer and leader of choirs and singing schools. He composed many secular and religious pieces and published several song books.

Bliss first heard and met D. L. Moody in 1860 at a street meeting in Chicago. About 1873 he joined Major D. W. Whittle as singing evangelist. Mr. Moody invited him to Northfield after his return from England in 1875. Bliss and his wife were on their way to Chicago to assist Mr. Moody in meetings in 1876 when their train fell 75 feet through a railroad bridge across a small river near Ashtabula, Ohio, and both were killed.

The chief celebration of the centennial of his birth will take place in the cemetery at Rome, Pa., where he was buried. Mr. Moody raised the money to erect a monument over his grave, and unveiled it in the presence of 10,000 people on July 10, 1877.

The Northfield hymn books contain a number of Mr. Bliss' songs, including: "Wonderful Words of Life; Almost Persuaded; Let the Lower Lights be Burning; Hold the Fort; and Halleluia, What a Saviour!"

The local Youths Hostel received visitors and guests this week who are traveling about on tours as hostellers from France, Germany, Italy and Holland.

Home Shortage Grows More Serious But Manufacturers Move To End It

YOU give your order for a house today, and a week later you move into it.

The time is fast approaching when that will be a common experience. The housing problem is becoming more serious all the time. The United States urgently needs several hundred thousand more family shelters than are available now. And manufacturers are concentrating on ways of solving the problem.

In Clairton, Pa., near Pittsburgh, the attractive Colonial cottage shown here just has been built to show how easily and successfully houses can be built of steel. It is all-steel, built in panels that are quickly and readily put together in a few days. When the house is completed it is perfectly suited for year-round permanent occupancy anywhere.

Such houses, four to six rooms, can be sold for $3,000 to $4,000. The demonstration house has a

An A. Y. H. Contest Winners Named Now

Miss Helen Lee of Seattle, Washington, a student at the university there, is at the Youths Hostel for a week, preparing to sail for an European trip which she won as first prize in the recent AYH nation-wide contest. Her points were gained mostly in writing newspaper articles regarding hosteling.

The second prize went to Miss Clara Pollock of Ann Arbor, Mich., which was a ten-week's hosteling trip in America; the third and fourth prizes went to Miss Louise Fewell of Philadelphia and Miss Dorothy Richards of Denver, each of whom received an American bicycle.

Bike saddle bags went to fifth, sixth and seventh place winners as follows: Mrs. R. Joseph Dow of Florida, Charles Harris of New York, and Miss Jane Perry of Springfield. Eighth, ninth and tenth prizes of AYH wander bags went to Miss Verna Purcell of Pennsylvania, Miss Juliette Leiper of New Jersey and Miss Charlotte Sabey of Rochester.

Points were for publicity, securing members for hostel trips and for writing letters on hosteling.

HIS RED LETTER DAY!

"A bang-up Fourth without a bang-up!" That appeal to the nation was issued today by the National Safety Council in its campaign to reduce the huge annual toll of accidents over the Fourth of July holiday. Emphasizing the fact that the annual July accident toll is greater than in any other month of the year and that a large part of this toll is due to the Independence Day holiday, the Council asked every citizen to use greater care in driving, swimming, boating and other holiday activities, and not to use explosive or fireworks. The Council suggested six general rules to avert holiday tragedy:

1. Start early on your holiday trip. Give yourself plenty of time to get there and back by driving moderately. Sixty-one per cent of fatal traffic accidents occur after dark.
2. Watch out for sunburn! It creeps up on you and can be dangerous. A little of it at a time is the best way.
3. Use common sense in the water. Wait an hour after eating. Be sure of the depth. Know that a lifeguard is handy.
4. Don't use fireworks!
5. Don't drive if you drink.
6. Take it easy. Get back safe and sound. Be alive on the Fifth!

EDITORIAL

Hundreds of young people are departing from Northfield this week for novel trips through Europe and the British Isles.
With a knapsack as the only piece of luggage, and with bicycle as a means of transportation, these young hostellers will see the byways and backroads of Europe unknown to the average tourist. On a dollar a day budget they will travel in groups of ten, biking from 30 to 50 miles a day, staying in youth hostels at night where they prepare their own meals, and pay an overnight fee which never exceeds 25 cents.

A youth hostel is an inexpensive, supervised lodging for those traveling under their own power, by foot, or bike, or horseback or canoe. An American Youth Hostel pass procurable from the national headquarters in Northfield, admits the holder to over 4000 youth hostels in 20 countries.
The Youth Hostel movement affords our young people who have the spirit of adventure, an opportunity that is both educational and health making.

The glorious Fourth is upon us and the people of the nation will observe their independence on the basis of their right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.
It is America's big day and it is fitting and proper that all should celebrate.

However, let us all see to it that we observe it in a sane way. There is always a Fourth of July toll each year which witnesses a bloody record of disaster and death. Don't lose your head in any celebration; liberty doesn't mean license to run wild, act crazy, or be foolish. Why not be sensible on the Fourth?

June 30 marks the end of another Government fiscal year—a year during which Federal revenues have hit an almost unprecedented high despite the new depression.
The total collections for the year will be almost six billions of dollars, a figure exceeded only twice in the history of America—two years immediately after the World War.

Several factors account for the big government income this year. One is the multiplicity of existing taxes. Another is the imposition of higher rates under the Social Security Act.

Yet with revenues at this remarkably high level the Federal government is still operating on the red side of the ledger with the national debt growing daily and the Treasury still borrowing money—borrowing to meet the expenses of an expanded bureaucracy and to finance another pump-priming spree.

The Back Yard Gardener

"Pop" Miller stopped me on the street the other day and said, "You're a great guy. You get me all interested in starting a back yard garden, and then you never come near me."

"What's the matter now?"
says I.

"Well, for one thing my roses I'm lost as to what I'm supposed to do with them during the summer."

"Well, what do you want to do?"

"The first thing," says he, "I want to move one of my roses, but it's so big that I don't know how to go about it."

So I told him my recommendation would be to layer one of the stems in order to start a new plant, and then move that this fall rather than the old bush.
Simply take one of the new stems, bend it over, and bury part of it under the ground, leaving the tip sticking out beyond the buried portion. It's even a good idea to make a cut on a slant halfway through the stem and hold this open by a small stick or stone. Roots will start from the buried portion, and when they get well established you can cut off the new plant from the old and you have a new climbing rose.

Then another thing "Pop" wanted to know was how to go about pruning his climbers. He said that he understood they should be pruned at this time of year. And I told him yes, for once he was right, because climbing roses and ramblers are best pruned as soon as the flowers have dropped. All too often folks let their climbers just go helter-skelter over a trellis or buiding, but if you really want beautiful roses you've got to do some pruning.

Climbing roses are of two general classes. There are those which make their new canes directly from the roots and those which produce laterals on which flowers are borne. The proper way to handle the former class which includes the ramblers is to cut out the old wood at the base as soon as they are through blooming, leaving of course the new canes which will give you next year's flowers. And these new canes should be trained on to the supports and tied with a soft twine of some sort.

The large-flowered roses which include most of the climbing and so-called pillar roses are those which send out laterals up and down the old canes. The flowers are produced on these laterals and they should be cut back within one or two inches of the cane stem. You trim out the old canes only in case you find them dead or you want to keep the bush down to a certain size. And of course you can leave as many of the new shoots growing as you desire.

It's important to prune at this time from the standpoint of flowers and it's also important because roses pruned now will be much more easily handled when it comes to winter protection.

Then "Pop" also wanted to know the difference between a rambler rose and a climbing rose and I told him that according to my limited fund of knowledge the way to tell one from the other is that a climbing rose grows larger and has larger flowers which are borne singly or only a few flowers in a cluster. The ramblers are small-flowered and the flowers are, as the botanist say, multiflora. In other words, a great many of them are borne in a cluster.

Ramblers as a rule are a little bit more hardy than the climbers—a thing worth keeping in mind when you are planning roses.

The main point I wanted to bring out was that these ramblers and climbers should be pruned as soon as they are through blooming.

Christ for all—ALL FOR CHRIST
The Word of God
"The word is sown into my heart, it will grow in my life."

The Mind of Christ Philippians 2:1-11. If there be therefore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any bowels and mercies, Fulfill my joy; that ye be likeminded having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind. Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem others better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others. Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: Who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: And being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: That at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; And that every tongue should confess that Jesus is Lord to the glory of God the Father.

PUBLIC FORUM
Editor of the Press: It is an occasion of gratification to the Christian public to learn that the officers of the Northfield schools have voted that the offerings of the people in the Sunday services of the conferences will be in the future for the hosts with whom is the responsibility of the management and support. It can be regarded as truly promoting an unsectarian spirit. The worship of the conferences should surely be of the God of all, in the name of the Church Universal, and not in that of a local sect. All groups of churches are now assured of like welcome in the services of the conferences, equally participating in the spiritual privileges and benefits, and responding to that which is in all manner unsectarian.

"The Secret"
I met God in the morning When my day was at its best,
And His presence came like sunrise
With a Glory in my breast.

All day long His presence lingered All day long He stayed with me
And we sailed in perfect calmness O'er a very troubled sea.

Other ships were blown and battered
Other ships were sore distressed
But the winds that seemed to drive them Brought to us both peace and rest.

Then I thought of other mornings
With a keen remorse of mind When I too had loosed the moorings
With the Presence left behind.

So, I think I know the secret Learned from many a troubled way
You must seek Him in the morning
If you want Him through the day.

"Old Love Is Best"
Young love is passion, Old love is peace.
Such is love's fashion,
Never to cease.

Young love's a carol,
Old love's a psalm.
Child love is wild love,
Old love is calm.
Young love is rapture,
Old love is rest.

Shy wings for capture,
Deep heart for nest.
Dawn love is silver,
Wait for the west.
Old love is gold love—
Old love is best.

Make Others Happy
Happiness is the greatest thing.
That makes life worth living;
No other way can happiness bring Than by the joy of giving.
You need not give silver or gold, Nor gifts that run up bills, But give love and joy untold For that's the kind that thrills.

Never can one be so happy As when he is doing his share, To make someone else happy That to him is only fair.
So why not help your fellow man By doing all you can?
Give of love and cheer so true, And God will share it all with you.
